

5 Things Design Experts Always Buy From the Dollar Store

There are very few things we love more than a good deal. Sure, we're happy to pay top dollar for a cozy sofa or premium mattress, but there's something special about buying an insanely practical item for a steal.

Interior design experts aren't immune to the allure of cheap thrills, either. They may have access to some of the most luxurious furniture and accessories around, but it turns out they love dollar stores just as much as we do. Craving an affordable shopping spree? Here are five things lurking in designers' dollar store carts:

(Image Credit: Dollar Tree)

Goo Gone Goo and Adhesive Remover, $18 per case

"To remove any sticky adhesive that could have been left behind from a sticker."

—Monica Wilcox, interior designer

(Image Credit: Dollar Tree)

Fluted Glass Ivy Bowls, $12 per case

"Fresh flowers, what a great touch! This is such an easy way to add color to a room. Dollar stores have plenty of vases to choose from!" —Monica Wilcox